Tie Style 1: The Four In Hand

This is our “go-to” knot, as it’s a bit neater than just a simple knot, and will look good in every tie-wearing situation.

It’s slim, but not too skinny, and it’s the most commonly used style with grown-ups and schools.

How to tie it:

1. Place your tie around your neck the right side up, with the wide end on your right hand side, and the skinny end on the left. Pull the wide end so it sits below the skinny end- it should end slightly above your belly button.
2. You are only moving the wide end. Cross the wide end of the tie over the skinny end, and then continue underneath.
3. Cross the wide end over the skinny end one more time. This is the part that makes the tie sit nicer!
4. Hold the knot steady and slip the wide end down through the knot. Centre the dimple and tighten your tie, by holding the knot and pulling the skinny end underneath.

The Simple Knot

For those times that it’s just all too tricky, look no further than the easiest style of the lot! This is the knot to use with a skinny tie, or if you want to have a very small knot.

How to tie it:

1. Place your tie around your neck, upside down, with the wide end on your right hand side. Pull the wide end so it sits at below the skinny end, and then cross the wide end underneath the skinny end, to the left.
2. You are only moving the wide end. Cross the wide end over and to the right, and then up through the neck loop from underneath.
3. Pull your tie down through the loop and then tighten and adjust.
